NATIONAL MUSEUM OF AFRICAN ART

A collection of more than 7,000 works informs a dynamic Smithsonian location that offers a unique look at ancient and contemporary African artistic expression.

NATIVE AMERICAN VETERANS MEMORIAL

The beautifully designed tribute contains a stainless-steel circle balanced on a stone drum and is located on the grounds of the National Museum of the American Indian, which celebrates 20 years on the National Mall in 2024.

MARTIN LUTHER KING, JR. MEMORIAL

A 30-foot statue of Dr. King is carved into the Stone of Hope, which emerges from two large boulders known as the Mountain of Despair.

HIRSHHORN MUSEUM AND SCULPTURE GARDEN

The Smithsonian's national museum of modern and contemporary art celebrates its 50th anniversary in 2024 with an eye-popping survey of masterworks and more.

DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER MEMORIAL

A four-acre urban park details the 34th U.S. president's accomplishments through a series of sculptures and stainless steel tapestries.

NATIONAL ARCHIVES

The Rotunda for the Charters of Freedom features the original Declaration of Independence, U.S. Constitution, Bill of Rights and Emancipation Proclamation.

CONSTITUTION GARDENS

Situated on 50 acres of parkland originally beneath the Potomac River, the oasis features a bird-friendly lake with a memorial island dedicated to the signatories of the Declaration.

FOR MORE ON INTERNATIONALLY ACCLAIMED
RESTAURANTS IN DC, VISIT WASHINGTON.ORG/FOOD

The variety of restaurants in the nation's capital is awe-inspiring. Read on for a succulent sampling of DC's unmatched food scene.

PURE ELEGANCE

These upscale restaurants are the talk of the town.

- Rania: Chetan Shetty rethinks the modern Indian restaurant through dishes like beef short rib with saffron nihari
- Fiola Ristorante & Bar: Dazzling house-made pastas and Italian-inspired seafood from Chef Fabio Trabocchi
- Masseria: Rustic vibes abound with coastal cuisine cooked to perfection by Nicholas Stefanelli
- Cranes: Chef Pepe Moncayo presents a fusion of Japanese and Spanish flavors and a can't-miss sake lounge
- The Duck & The Peach: Try Chef Katarina Petonito's dinner party tasting menu and thank us later

GREAT VALUE

Have an unforgettable meal without breaking the bank.

- The Red Hen: Wood-fired Italian dishes, including the famous fennel sausage ragu
- Stellina Pizzeria: Fast-casual neo-Neapolitan pies; almost every item is under $20
- China Chilcano: José Andrés serves a delightful mash-up of Peruvian, Chinese and Japanese flavors
- Sfoglina: Trabocchi elevates pasta dishes with traditional Italian techniques
- Dauphine's: Chef Kristen Essig cajoles cane butter and other New Orleans-inspired flavors out of a cutting-edge kitchen

ROOFTOP TIME

Treat yourself to a cocktail and a stunning vista.

- Top of the Gate: 360-degree views from The Watergate Hotel
- La Vie: You'll feel like you're on the French Riviera, but you'll be at The Wharf
- Officina: Stefanelli goes casual with a three-story market-restaurant-bar hybrid on the water
- VUE: Get bottle service and a spectacular view of the Washington Monument
- The Rooftop At The Graham: Georgetown sprawls below you as you enjoy a craft cocktail and the chorizo and chimichurri flatbread

BIPOC & WOMEN-OWNED

The city's diversity shines through its wealth of minority-run and female-led businesses.

- Ben's Chili Bowl: The U Street landmark serves the world famous, only-in-DC half-smokes
- Fava Pot: Chef Dina Daniels delights with Egyptian-style beef pies and lentil-rice-pasta bowls
- Here's the Scoop: More than 20 ice cream flavors, milkshakes, cakes, pies and cookies from Karin Sellers
- The Park at 14th: Weekends bring unlimited brunch and bottomless mimosas

THE WHARF

FUN FOR AU

FOR MORE ACCESSIBLE TOURISM INFO,
VISIT WASHINGTON.ORG/ACCESSIBILITY

While many of DC's attractions and cultural institutions are welcoming and accessible to visitors, the following attractions maintain dedicated web pages outlining their accessibility features, including ramps, sign language-interpreted tours and wheelchairs.

SMITHSONIAN MUSEUMS

From free manual wheelchair loans to sign language interpretation to Aira Access and more, the Smithsonian works to make all visitors feel welcome. Explore their website to view an accessibility map and to contact the hosting museum in advance to arrange tours.

U.S. CAPITOL

Experience interactive exhibits or tour the many rooms — however you like to explore, the U.S. Capitol makes it easy to find an accessible way to do so. The Office of Congressional Accessibility Services can provide tours specifically designed for visitors with disabilities.

NATIONAL MALL

The National Mall embraces accessibility, from offering braille brochures to closed captioning and more. All major monuments and memorials are wheelchair accessible. Before visiting, it is encouraged to email or call to provide advance notice.

OTHER ATTRACTIONS INCLUDE:

- Hillwood Estate, Museum and Gardens
- International Spy Museum
- John F. Kennedy Center for the Performing Arts
- Library of Congress
- National Gallery of Art
- Shakespeare Theatre Company Harman Center for the Arts
- Washington National Cathedral
- White House
- Woolly Mammoth Theatre Company

Getting Around

Metro prides itself on being one of the most accessible public transportation systems in the world. In addition to a comprehensive website outlining services available to mobility-challenged visitors, Metro has also compiled a downloadable guide to accessible transportation options throughout the region.

ScootAround offers scooter and wheelchair rentals for a minimum of three days, weekly or for longer periods of time so that you can navigate the city and its sites in comfort and ease.

Orthopaedic Mobility Rentals provides daily, weekly or monthly rentals throughout the DC Metro area.

Know Before You Go

GALLAUDET

DC's Gallaudet University has been the educational, political, social and economic engine of the deaf and signing community on a national and global scale for more than 160 years. Free, in-person campus tours are available.

ASL/LANGUAGE SERVICES

For travelers in need of language support and interpreting, download the Jeenie app on your smartphone or iPad for 24/7 assistance, including on-demand American Sign Language interpreting via video chat.

THE CAPITAL OF Sustainability

The nation's capital leads in fostering a sustainable planet by helping local businesses reduce their carbon footprint.

INITIATIVES

- DC is the first LEED-Platinum city in the world and the first U.S. city to launch a bikeshare system (Capital Bikeshare, which now offers more than 6,000 bikes across the city).
- The District is tackling emissions from buildings and energy, the largest driver of citywide emissions. The District's laws require a Net Zero building code by 2026, improving energy efficiency of existing buildings and reaching 100% renewable electricity by 2032.
- The city has committed to cutting carbon emissions 60% by 2030 and to reach full neutrality by 2045.
- The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) is investing in a zero-emission fleet to cut air and carbon pollution. WMATA will purchase 100% zero-emission buses (ZEB) by 2027 to build a 100% ZEB fleet by 2042.
